

E4B | Entrepreneurship for Biomedicine Program

Washington University in St. Louis

invites you to participate in the FREE, online, NIH-funded, Entrepreneurship for Biomedicine (E4B) training program.

Work together with a team of trainees from across the U.S. Mentorship is provided from successful entrepreneurs and innovators.

- Eligibility: All pre- and post-graduate biomedical research trainees and junior faculty. Prior experience in entrepreneurship is not required.
- Time Commitment: ~4 hours per week
- Program Duration: 12 weeks

Applications for Spring 2022 close January 3rd, 2022

Learn more and apply at e4b.wustl.edu

Do you have additional questions about the E4B program?

Contact the E4B Program Manager, Alissa Hanten @ e4b@wustl.edu

Washington University in St. Louis
SCHOOL OF MEDICINE

E4B[®] | Entrepreneurship
for Biomedicine