

HRPO Open Forum on the New Human Subjects Research Regulations

You are invited to attend a HRPO Open Forum to discuss new human subjects regulations that will go into effect in January 2019. We would like your input on how to implement these regulations and in particular if we should take advantage of an opportunity to start using some of the new rules early to reduce regulatory burden.

Several sessions will be held on the Danforth Campus - pick the one that works best for you!

2018

Tuesday, September 4	1:00-2:00pm	McMillan Café
Tuesday, September 4	2:30-3:30pm	McMillan Café
Wednesday, September 5	9:00-10:00am	DUC 234
Thursday, September 6	12:00-1:00pm	McMillan Café

Be sure to watch the HRPO website for future news and announcements: hrpo.wustl.edu/

For more information about implementing some of the new rules (provisions) early, go to: www.hhs.gov/ohrp/news/announcements-and-news-releases/index.html